Campus Abuse; a Second View

An article in the current issue of NATIONAL REVIEW touches on the cause of campus disorders in a light that escaped our consideration — until now.

Although the writer, John R. Coyne, Jr., refers to many causes — from SDSers to rude letters to undergrads from the college library regarding overdue books — he hits the nail on the head when he says the sincere student revolts because he feels he is being gyped by the college.

The undergrad's revolution is his reaction to an educational system that he believes not only does not educate but cheats him out of what he, and other trusting Americans are paying for: a quality teaching program provided by way of quality educators.

Often the undergrad finds that he is not being instructed by a capable, highly trained instructor at all — but by a $1,650 a year teaching assistant with little classroom experience. The assistant is a hurried graduate, usually with family responsibilities requiring him to hold two other jobs in order to make ends meet.

Instead of the undergrad having an inspired class by a top professor, the class is a drudge because the teaching assistant performs like a nitwit.

If the undergrad requests a section change, he is treated with suspicion by the administration. Nitwit teachers are not a valid reason for transfer. If he tells the truth, he not only doesn't get the transfer but his campus life becomes a hell because he has attacked the establishment and the establishment will strike back. He will be singled out by that instructor the rest of the year.

So he must lie his way out of the class he originally chose; the class he wanted; the class he paid his fees for, and the class in which there was listed a qualified professor as the instructor.

Does he feel cheated? You bet your life he does.

But so did Governor Reagan when he considered some sort of educational reform by which he could help balance the budget. He discovered that some tenured professors at Berkeley taught only five hours a week. Gov. Reagan suggested that each professor teach one added class. The reaction of shocked outrage by the faculty was only slightly less than the outrage of students who rose up for causes they considered more justified.

The undergrad is no dumdum. He knows what is being done to him, but the faculty and the administration will not heed him. But the radicals will. They'll heed anyone who can provide tinder for more uprisings.

So the frustrated undergrad has three options. He can tough it out and say or do nothing. He can drop out of college. Or he can join a revolutionary force. Only in the latter case does he not feel that he is being muzzled.

Many of these abuses — administrative rigidity, indifference to individual human needs, should be capable of easy solution. Other abuses, however, are not so easily resolved. These include over-reliance on graduate students to prop up over-extended programs; professors unable to talk about esoteric interests, and professors content to read from notes taken in graduate school decades ago. Some professors are more interested in changing society according to some text book recipe than teaching their subjects. Many professors and department heads stay aloof. Many of them are inaccessible. In short, those abuses which fall solely within the academic sphere are the more difficult to cure, according to Coyne.

Moreover, many a college president serve on commissions dedicated to improving society while the society on their own campuses is crashing down in revolt because of myriad abuses.

But now the change is on. Many students, Korean veterans for example, came back to colleges with the knowledge that they were not only older than many of their instructors but knew a great deal more about life than they.

Said Coyne, "We were usually content to treat them as we treated our commanding officers. Keep our mouths shut, let them think they were fine fellows, and do what we wanted to do."

"We earned our degrees (in college), but many of us carried away a bad taste which was to linger, and, at the very least make us cynical about those high flown statements of purpose composed by pr men for college catalogs."

"It is difficult to condemn all of today's non-idealistic undergrads for his noise precisely because he has so few alternatives."

The Vietnam veteran will be even more realistic than his Korean veteran predecessor. The generally angry mood of today's youth suggests that when he returns from war to campus he will further revolt against the college establishment rather than to try to stem any uprising.

And this time, tenure, one of the most treasured and protected — and one of the most abused — contrivements of the establishment may become the victim.

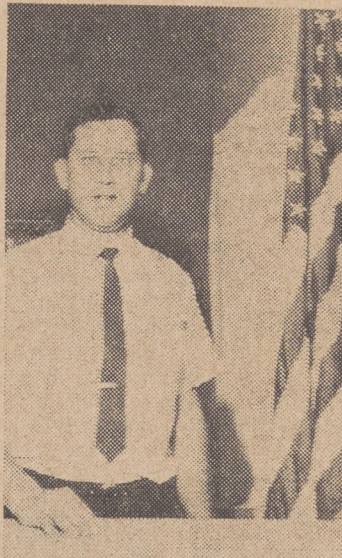

Old Time Days Parade To Highlight 100th Birthday Of Lemon Grove

FREE — IN THIS ISSUE: OLD TIME DAYS SOUVENIR PROGRAM

A colorful souvenir program, sponsored by the Old Time Days Parade Committee, will be found enclosed in your paper today.

It will help you pick out your favorites in the parade; it will also help you find old time prices on bargains at stores of local merchants who gave support to the parade and this program.

So, whether you're looking for Miss Lemon Grove Beauty Queen, Mayvin Myers, the Lemon Grove Trail Riders sponsored by the Review/Bulletin, or Miss Eastern San Diego County Fair 1969, use this guide to help spot old (and young) friends.

JIM DORMAN

This year's parade should be "bigger, better and more colorful" than last year's according to Jim Dorman, president of Old Time Days Committee.

Best viewing areas, he said, will be just about anywhere in the middle of Lemon Grove. Buena Vista and Broadway, and Imperial and Broadway should make good viewing areas, Dorman said.

Asked what would happen in the event of rain Dorman said, "The rifle range never closes," which means (in the ex-Marine's language) the parade will go as scheduled in the event of rain.

Parade is scheduled to start at 11 a.m.

Grove's 100th Birthday Coincides With SD's 200th

Lemon Grove celebrates its centennial anniversary May 22, 23 and 24 in conjunction with the San Diego 200th Anniversary.

The three-day celebration will begin with an Old Time Days sale by city merchants. A 100-unit parade on May 24 will be a focal point of festivities. More than 25,000 persons are expected to view the parade, which will begin at Massachusetts ave. turn east on Broadway and south on Kempf st., ending at School lane.

Pat Riley, guard on the San Diego Rockets, will be Grand Marshal.

Also in the parade as a co-marshal, will be Tauno A. J. Pylvanainen, of Finland, who is here as a representative of his country as Chief of Trade Promotion for the Finnish-American Chamber of Commerce. His visit is sponsored by the U. S. Department of State.

A costume competition has been scheduled at the parking lot east of the Mayfair parking lot following the parade. Children from pre-school age to 12 years are eligible to enter.

Other activities planned during the three-day celebration include a fish fry at the Lemon Grove Moose Lodge.

Indians Marching Down Broadway Will Be Friendly Cub Scouts

An Indian theme will be used by Lemon Grove Cub Scout Pack 318 for Saturday's Old Time Days Parade and for its monthly Pack meeting Monday night.

The Pack meeting will be held at the First Congregational Church, 2770 Glebe rd., at 7:30 p.m.

All of the group's nine Dens will participate in the parade Saturday morning with its entry consisting of a float and marching unit.

A 9x12-foot float will contain a teepee and burial bed built by the two Webelos Dens plus other Indian articles made by the seven regular Cub Dens. The Webelos will carry the Pack banner ahead of the float and will be followed by the Cub Scouts in Indian costumes.

Monday evening's meeting will offer the Scouts a chance to display their handicraft. Den 1 will show Seminole jewelry, Den 2, Hopi crafts, Den 3, an Apache totem pole and sign language demonstration, Den 4, Pueblo cooking and Den 5, Apache weapons.

Webelos Den 6 will have its teepee, Den 7, Iroquois dances and song chants, Den 8, Sioux crafts and costumes and Webelos Den 9 will show its burial bed.

Three boys will be added to the Pack roster at the meeting, swelling the total to 61 members. Additions include Brian Trask and Glenn Nye as Bobcat inductees and Mike Murphy as a Webelos transfer.

Monday's meeting will be the final indoor gathering for Pack 318 until October.

A summer schedule of Pack affairs includes a trip to Frontier in June, a roller skating party in July, a stag fishing trip in August and a picnic and games competition in September. In addition, individual Dens will have field trips throughout the summer.

LEM N. GROVE

'Lem N. Grove' is a huge, over 6-foot-tall, papiermache figure who will add color to the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade, May 24. He will strut in the lead position of the parade.

'Lem' or 'Mr. Lemon' was built about one year ago by H. D. McCray in his Lemon Grove home.

It has been a well-kept secret — Who will be filling his big shoes in the parade? But what is more important is that 'Lem' is the striking symbol of a proud community which is celebrating its centennial.

St. Philip's Sets Sale, Barbecue For Centennial

In conjunction with the annual observance of Lemon Grove Old Time Days, St. Philip's Episcopal Church has scheduled two events.

Freeway Ramp Closed

The California Division of Highways said that westbound on-ramp from Broadway to Rout 94 will be closed through June 13.

District Engineer Jacob Dekema said this closure is necessary to complete a ramp modification and freeway widening in the area. The work will consist of constructing an additional lanes in the median and providing a longer acceleration lane for traffic entering from Broadway.

Westbound traffic from the Lemon Grove area may enter Route 94 at either Waite or Federal boulevard.

Route 8 Extended

Another mile-and-a-half of Interstate 8, east of Alpine, opens today at 10 a.m.

The opening of this section ties together previously completed projects and extends 8 east 35 miles from San Diego.

On hand for ribbon cutting ceremonies will be Supervisor Henry Boney, Jacob Dekema, district engineer for the California Division of Highways.

High School District Eyes $1.80 Tax Rate

A thirty cent tax hike to $1.80 for each $100 assessed valuation to provide for an increase of more than $1.2 million in funds for operating Grossmont District's high schools was recommended by District Superintendent Austin Sellery to the board of trustees Monday night.

More than $800,000 of that amount would go to teachers in the form of built in increments based on length of service and added academic training.

A general pay raise for the district's 650 teachers and 400 other employees is not included.

A request for a general pay hike is expected to come from employees later in the month. Dr. Sellery told the board that additional state aid or a significant increase above the proposed 30 cents would be essential to meet a general increase.

The preliminary budget is for $16.6 millions for district operation.

Dr. Sellery told the board that even though the increased budget were approved, it would not allow for an improved educational program and would dip heavily into the district's reserve fund. These reserves are held for emergencies, unexpected enrollments or other problems.

TWENTY YEARS OF SERVICE — Sheriff's Captain Quentin D. Cash, second from right, officer in charge of the East County substations which include Lemon Grove, is commended by Sheriff Joe O'Connor, right and County Supervisor DeGraff Austin, left, for 20 years of service.

Europeans Have Answer To-Repair-Problem 'Blues'

Ever get bugged by poor service on your American-made gadgets with their unique built-in-obsolete-type features?

This story won't give you tips to get better service, but it does show there is a better system for dependable service. And even though the system is in operation overseas, it might soothe you to know that some progress is being made in this problem area that accompanied the technological explosion.

(From "Executives' Digest," May 1969): "UNLIKE Americans, most Europeans will not tolerate poor service. When something goes wrong with the TV set, the kitchen plumbing, the car, they demand instant service — and they get it, often from a firm like Paris' SOS. For almost any conceivable emergency, from frozen pipes to malfunctioning appliances, the customer need only dial SOS 9999. The customer's needs are logged on an IBM card and then a radio dispatch sends one of SOS's 120 repair vans to the job — usually within 20 minutes.

Created as a department store of services, SOS already has a turnover of $2.1 million in Paris alone and is branching out into such services as do-it-yourself auto repairs, in which the mechanically inclined client is provided with an auto-repair booth, spare parts, the services of a technical counselor and a white smock."

GENERAL'S DELIGHT — Major General Lowell E. English, Marine Corps Recruiting Commanding General, samples one of Mrs. Mary Harter's Vietnam-bound cookies during a visit she made to the Commanding General's office May 7.

Woman's Cookie Campaign Aids Marines In Vietnam, Wins Support Of Community

MCRD, SAN DIEGO —

A one-woman endeavor to send cakes and cookies to members of Second Battalion, Fifth Marines in Vietnam has suddenly grown into a community-aided project for Mrs. Mary Harter of Spring Valley.

Mrs. Harter originated "Project-Packages" two months ago to "send those boys in Vietnam something from home."

Her son, Lance Corporal David R. Jones, was killed while fighting with the unit in the central I Corps area over a year ago.

"Project-Packages" consists of sending 30-pound packages of cakes and cookies to her son's organization, and, according to Mrs. Harter, they have been warmly received by the Leatherneck troops.

"I had started this out as a weekly project, but all of a sudden, I've found myself baking or wrapping cookies 20 hours out of the day," she chuckles.

Mrs. Harter does much of the baking in her own home while caring for three sons, serving as an active member of the Spring Valley Little League Baseball program, and supervising the Spring Valley Elementary School cafeteria during the lunch hour.

The project has developed rapidly since its inception and Mrs. Harter claims this is due mainly to the efforts of many local families and organizations. Among the groups are the National City Girls Club, Inc., who help with the baking, and the Spring Valley Cub Scouts who write letters to the Marines in addition to bringing her home-made pastries for distribution.

A number of churches in San Diego County have also asked their congregations to contribute baked goods to "Project-Packages." Mrs. Harter once drove over 200 miles one afternoon to load her station wagon with these packages.

Her biggest problem has been trying to finance the postage required to send the packages to Vietnam. Each package costs approximately $2.50 to send and she has often sent as many as 12 packages in one day.

Certain establishments are recognizing her dilemma, however, as a weekly paper and a service station are advising concerned individuals to send funds to Mrs. Harter at her home address: 8815 Campo rd., Spring Valley.

Is there an end to "Project-Packages" in sight?

SC1stNat 'Tubes' To Speed Service

High-speeds, quick-service, customer-convenient drive-in window facilities, featuring banking by use of a pneumatic tube system, are being installed at the Lemon Grove Office of Southern California First National Bank.

The facilities will provide three customer stations that will serve three lanes of traffic and will accommodate 1500 cars a day.

Illegal to Stop, Park or Stand on Calif. Freeways

It is unlawful to stop, park, or leave any vehicle standing upon a freeway, Capt. V. J. Herz, Commander of the San Diego Area office of the California Highway Patrol reports.

The freeway parking prohibition, he pointed out, includes the divider strip and the area alongside the road within the freeway fence, as well as the off and on-ramps.

"The only exceptions to the 'no parking on freeways' rule occur when stopping is necessary to avoid injury to persons or damage to property, in obedience to a peace officer or a traffic control device, when the vehicle is so disabled that it is impossible to avoid stopping temporarily, when a vehicle is summoned to give assistance to a vehicle or person, and in locations where stopping, standing or parking is specifically permitted, such as roadside rest areas.

When a vehicle is disabled, the Highway Patrol is required to have it removed after four hours. If a driver finds it will be necessary to leave the vehicle for a slightly longer period, he should contact the CHP Area office, Captain Herz said.

'Hoot Mon' Carnival Set At Helix High School

By Kerry Jacobsen

Helix High School will hold its annual Hoot Mon May 23, from 5:30 to 9 p.m. in the lunch area.

Hoot Mon is sponsored by the Inter-Club Council, a leadership council with representatives from all on-campus clubs.

"The carnival is held for clubs and classes to sponsor a booth and raise money," Darryl Simmons, chairman of the Inter-Club Council and Attorney General, said.

Food and game booths are paid for by purchasing script. Both parents and students are welcome.

Various booths will include the dunking booth sponsored by the cheerleaders, the International Club Cake Walk, a dough throw sponsored by the Drama Club, a marriage booth sponsored by the senior class and a tissue paper flower booth, with proceeds going to Girls' League.

The Tartan staff will sponsor the annual Bermuda Ennoble after Hoot Mon in the gym. The yearbook staff will feature Junky Hoe's Divorce Court, for those already tired of a Helix-style marriage, at the bermuda shorts dance.

All of her friends in school and community are invited.

Dr. McIntosh's retirement follows 28 years of service in education, including 20 in the local school district, plus additional years in personnel work at McClellan Army Air Force Base in California.

During her years in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, Dr. McIntosh has organized and supervised the pupil personnel services department, according to Glenn E. Murdoch. Under her leadership, he said, the department has been in the forefront and has often served as a model for other districts.

During Dr. McIntosh's tenure the educable mentally retarded, the trainable mentally retarded, gifted child, deaf and hard of hearing, and educational tionally handicapped programs have been established, Murdoch said.

A native of Washington, Dr. McIntosh attended public schools in Asotin. There, she developed an interest in music and was soon playing piano and organ recitals. She also played background music for silent movies in the local cinema.

Dr. McIntosh received her A.B., bachelor in music, and her master in music, all from the University of Washington. Following her receipt of a teaching certificate from Lewiston (Washington) Normal in 1923, she taught primary grades and was a music teacher. Then after receiving additional training she was employed as a psychologist in the Child Guidance Center in Seattle; later she went into personnel work for the air force.

After receiving her Ed.D. in 1949 from Stanford University, she came to the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District to organize and head up the pupil personnel services (then known as guidance and counseling) department.

Dr. McIntosh is a past president of the Soroptimist Club of La Mesa; American Association of University Women; San Diego County Chapter, Council for Exceptional Children; San Diego Association of Psychologists and Psychia-

No 'Penalties' For Demonstrating Teachers

Stull Raps Omissions, Weaknesses In Report On Campus Disorders

SACRAMENTO — Assembly John Stull (R-Leucadia), whose subcommittee investigated California's campus disorders which led to a 176-page report issued by the Assembly Select Committee on Campus Disturbances, said he had agreed with the finds and general recommendations of the report, however felt that the report "did not go far enough."

Stull's subcommittee scheduled a series of hearings on the campus issue prior to the select committee being formed to develop recommendations for legislation. Stull was also a member of the select committee.

Stull, along with two other committee members, Assemblymen Newton R. Russell and Carlos J. Moorhead issued a separate statement to the report in areas where the lawmakers said it "appeared deficient."

The three said the report "did not go far enough in recommending academic penalties against those teachers who abandon their students in order to participate in disruptive demonstrations."

"The reality and true danger that the anarchists, nihilists and revolutionaries pose to our educational institutions is not mentioned forcibly enough," Stull said. "It is these groups who are the real threat to true freedom of speech and the proper pursuit of education."

Stull said also that the cause and effect aspect "was all but ignored in the report."

Knights Of Columbus To Get Civic Reception At Annual Convention

Frank E. O'Connor of 8365 Mt. Vernon ave., Lemon Grove, who is general chairman, California State Convention Committee, Knights of Columbus, announced that a civic reception will open the annual state convention of the Catholic men's fraternal organization in the Century Room of El Cortez Hotel, San Diego, at noon, May 30.

O'Connor is a member of the host council for the convention, San Miguel Council of La Mesa, whose grand knight is James Carini.

Welcoming the knights and their families from throughout the state will be the Bishop of San Diego Catholic Diocese, the Most Reverend Francis J. Furey, DD; James Coppley, publisher of the San Diego Union and Evening Tribune, representing Governor Ronald Reagan; Mayor Frank Curran, County Supervisor Jack Walsh, Congressmen Bob Wilson and Lionel Van Deerlin; State Senator James R. Mills, and Assemblyman Wade P. Deddeh.

Featured at the reception will be the presentation of American flags by Daniel R. Sanford of Anaheim, master of the fourth degree, Southern California District, Knights of Columbus, to Mayor Curran and Bishop Furey on behalf of Congressmen Wilson and Van Deerlin. The fourth degree is the patriotic degree of the order.

More than 2,000 visitors to San Diego are expected to attend the various convention events from May 29 to 31. 500 voting delegates will elect new state officers to take office July 1.

K of C State Secretary Albin J. Seifert, 4469 Pescadero st., a member of Point Loma Council, is the leading candidate to succeed the present State Deputy Roy G. Sweeney, Marysville, who will preside at the convention sessions.

Tax Filing Aid Offered Senior Citizens

Senior citizens who need assistance in filing for property tax reimbursement under the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law may contact a representative of the Franchise Tax Board at the Adult Recreation Center, 8450 La Mesa Boulevard, La Mesa, on Wednesday, May 28, only from 8 a.m. to noon.

The Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law provides for a reimbursement of a portion of the property taxes paid by California residents who own and reside in their own homes, who have paid the property taxes for the current year, and who have incomes of $3,350 or less. Claims may be filed at any time prior to October 15.

"It is impossible to hire faculty members who condone or advocate illegal acts or violence without developing students who in turn, will believe and act in accordance with these teachings," the lawmaker said.

Stull said school officials "must make it known, well in advance, that disturbances will not be tolerated and that students engaging in such acts will be punished swiftly, equitably and justly."

If you have been a homeowner for at least three months you have until Friday to find out if you can get about $70 off your property tax bill this year.

County Assessor Charles Williams warned that the new deadline to file a claim on this year's exemption and/or a refund for last year's taxes is at 5 p.m. in the assessor's office Friday.

Early in April the Assessor disclosed that many eligible homeowners had not claimed the $70 refund even though they owned their home on the March 1, 1968 lien date. Nor did they claim the $75 assessed value exemption on their principal dwelling as of March 1, this year.

Taxpayers who believe they are eligible should come to their county assessor's office, rather than telephone because of the shortness of time. Williams said a claim must be filed to get the refund and/or the exemption.

Jamul Ranch Assessment Dropped $1,902,700

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The market value of Jamul Ranch, the 8,000 acre spread of land owned by Donald and Lawrence Daley has dropped $1,902,700 under agricultural preserve status.

County assessor E. C. Williams said Monday that the 1969 market value for the ranch is $1,000 determined on the basis of restricted agricultural use.

Assuming a property tax rate of 10 dollars per $100 of assessed valuation (the total rate in the Jamul-Las Flores School District ranges between 10 and nine dollars, the ranch owners will have a tax saving of $47,567.50.

The Daleys have agreed, however, to reimburse the elementary school for whatever

Parents To Get Tips For Helping Students At Special PTA Night

Golden Avenue PTA will be honored to present a special evening June 26 at 7:30 with the eminent Dr. Margaret LaPray of the Department for Special Learning Problems, San Diego State College.

Dr. LaPray will demonstrate "Teaching Techniques" every parent should know to help his children. Students from Golden Avenue School will participate with Dr. LaPray in an actual classroom setting.

Parents will observe and engage in a question and answer period after the demonstration.

Parents who are interested in helping their children achieve maximum success in their studies should attend this interesting evening at Golden Avenue School, Lemon Grove.

Stull said also that school administrators in many instances, have seemingly been totally unprepared to handle the events that have been thrust upon them "which apparently has been interpreted by students as weakness and can only encourage further unlawful acts."

Stull said he had felt the report "should have been stronger."

The discussion did not attract a large audience.

L. E. Miller of Spring Valley, representing the local district of International Travel and Trailer Clubs of America, opposed the five acre limitation. He said the county should try to make it possible for an individual to place a mobile home on his own property, so long as it met health and safety standards and did not infringe upon the rights of others.

The county's move was in the opposite direction, and was prompted by, as much an anything else, the growing number of one space mobile home parks being granted by the state.

The April 15 filing deadline was extended by the Legislature and the Governor to May 23 so that taxpayers burdened with federal and state income tax filing could still take advantage of the property tax aid.

Those who owned their principal dwelling on March 1 of this year are entitled, in most cases, to a $75 assessed value exemption on their 1969 property taxes. The State Board of Equalization estimated this is worth about $70 off your property tax bill.

The 1968 Legislature also provided that principal dwelling owners on March 1, 1968 could get a $70 refund. Williams said that 134,996 checks would be mailed by the Controller starting June 16. Those who file late are scheduled to be reimbursed sometime in August by a supplemental disbursement.

Most improved bowlers were Martha E. Smipson, 16 pins; Bill Simpson 14 pins. Team winners were Headhunters, first place; Mira Monte, second place; Illegal League, third place; and Sock It To Me, fourth place.

Rockets vs. Russia

The San Diego Rocket rookies will climax tryouts next month with an international basketball game against the powerful Russian Olympic team.

Pete Newell, Rocket general manager, set the rookie camp "final examination" with the announcement that San Diego's 20 college draft choices will battle the Soviet Union's all-stars in an 8 p.m. game June 26, at San Diego International Sports Arena.

"I base my attitude on the hours of testimony which my subcommittee heard during the initial stages of the legislative investigation," Stull said.

Sen. Burgener Says:

Wide Changes Seen In Vote Age Issue

Here is the first in a series of columns from the office of State Senator Clair W. Burgener in which he gives his views on major issues facing the state.

This column deals with proposed lowering of the voting age.

Subsequent ones will deal with tax reform, campus unrest, drug abuse, education financing, and pornography.

The benefit of such a column is that it gives the reader an insight into the lawmaker's thinking before he takes a voting stand on important issues.

One of the more sensitive issues facing California today is the question over whether the voting age should be lowered.

The State Constitution sets forth the minimum eligible age for voting at 21 years, a provision which was contained in the original Constitution of 1849.

Recognizing 21 as the age of majority apparently stems from English common law as far back as the 12th Century, and the choice of that age evolved from the fact that the age for becoming a knight during the years of knight hood was 21.

Though there have been several attempts since 1942 in Congress to establish a lower voting age nationwide, none have been approved, and it has been left up to the individual states to decide. Only four states have adopted a lower age: Georgia, Kentucky, Alaska and Hawaii.

In recent years, youth groups in California have been urging the Legislature to set a lower age. This year, however, attempts in both Houses failed to garner the necessary votes.

The major question confronting the Legislature is that California statutory law makes important distinctions between persons under the age of 21 and those over 21. For purposes of many of the civil and criminal codes, a person does not attain the age of majority or responsibility until age 21.

For instance, males below 21 must have parent's consent to marry. Persons under 21 are subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, and California's liquor laws prohibit the sale or possession of alcoholic beverages by persons under 21.

Such persons are also prohibited from practicing law, medicine and even accounting; and in the area of employment, there are a number of laws governing the hours, wages, working conditions and types of employment for minors.

Persons under 21 cannot serve as jurors, nor are they eligible for elective or appointive office.

In certain instances an unmarried minor under 21 can disaffirm contractual liabilities such as contracts for the purchase or sale of real property.

The law also prohibits garnishment of wages or repossession of merchandise for indebtedness, and minors cannot be sued nor can they bring suit in court.

So the entire question of adult responsibility arises when a lower voting age is proposed.

The strongest argument raised by proponents of a lower voting age is that if the youngsters are old enough to bear arms as soldiers, then they are old enough to vote.

Frankly, it would make more sense to limit military draft to persons over 21. I sincerely feel our military services need more maturity as they develop into highly technological forces.

However valid the draft argument is, the entire spectrum of adult responsibility must be brought into perspective before the Legislature decides on just one facet of adulthood.

The question of a lower voting age, I am certain will face legislators again next year. There are no attempts by the Legislature to restrict individuals from voting; instead, the primary issue is what age should an individual reach when he assumes adult status and also assumes the necessary obligations and responsibility of adulthood.

Horse Show Booked For Del Mar

DEL MAR — Special exhibitions each afternoon and evening and an enlarged, junior show, will enhance the world's largest national horse show at the Southern California Exposition here June 25 through July 6.

Exhibitions being held here for the first time will feature the Wire Team drill by the famed, girls of the Foxfield Riding Club of Westlake Village, Calif., and the Colombian Pleasure horses owned by Senor Jaime H. Mejia of Bogota, Colombia.

The girls will entertain each evening around 7:30 by their sensational bareback riding techniques in a precision drill and by 1 1/2-minute individual demonstrations of jumping, figure eights and tricks of horsemanship. Using neither saddle nor bridle, their only control device will be a seldom-used bell wire around the horse's neck.

Recently, the Wire Team Drill appeared in the renowned Madison Square Garden Horse Show.
